NONPROFIT CAPACITY BUILDING

Jesuit Volunteer Corps: 801 St. Paul St., Baltimore MD. HUMAN RESOURCES SPECIALIST. Aspiring to create a more just and hopeful world, the Jesuit Volunteer Corps engages passionate young people in vital service within poor communities, fostering the growth of leaders committed to faith in action. The Human Resources Specialist will work with the JVC leadership team to explore revisions of the organization's compensation policy and performance evaluations. JVC is seeking to revise some of its HR policies and to design an individual performance evaluation plan. To do this, JVC seeks an experienced person to work with leadership to achieve the desired outcome. In order to get to the desired outcomes it is important to have an informed discussion regarding compensation, the value of salary increases vs bonuses or any other form of compensation, the behaviors that JVC wants to encourage and the realistic financial possibilities (that should be considered on an annual basis). www.jesuitvolunteers.org/

PASTORAL MINISTRY

Stella Marris Apostleship of the Sea. 79 Shipping PI, Dundalk MD. SEAFARER ASSISTANT. The mission of the Apostleship of the Sea (AOS) remains as clear as a sailing ship's mast silhouetted against the rising sun: to reach out to seafarers, fishers, their families, and all who work or travel on the high seas. Seafarers are often away from their home parishes, and some seafarers have no parish setting to help them maintain lasting ties with their faith and families. A network of AOS port offices and Catholic chaplains establishes a parish that accommodates a seafarer's unique lifestyle and needs. The Seafarer Assistant will provide welcome and hospitality to crews aboard ships docked in the Port of Baltimore. The assistant will bring supplies such as books, over-the-counter medicine, coffee, and magazines to sailors as well as religious tokens such as prayer books and rosaries. <http://apostleshipofthesea.com/>

WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT

Innovation Works. Baltimore, MD. Innovation Works identifies, trains and develops entrepreneurs from the most at-risk neighborhoods in Baltimore City. By drawing upon the experiences and curriculum of proven Jesuit social entrepreneurship programs, Innovation Works distributes educational resources and expertise to neighborhoods in Baltimore City that are drastically underserved by the existing social entrepreneurship ecosystem. Innovation Works aims to provide a path to economic sustainability, create business and job opportunities in the community, and connect educational and human resources from Jesuit institutions with people in need. Innovation Works seeks volunteers for two positions:

Curriculum development coordinator-

Innovation Works is seeking an Ignatian Volunteer with the experience and skills to weave together our entrepreneurship educational curriculum. Working with a team of educators from Jesuit middle and high schools and entrepreneurship thought leaders from the University of Baltimore, the Maryland Institute College of Art and other community partners, this volunteer will play a crucial role in adapting existing materials to fit our Baltimore context.

Community partner relationship manager-

Innovation Works is looking for an Ignatian Volunteer to support the organization in developing relationships with Baltimore community partners who will play vital roles in identifying program participants, business mentors, entrepreneurial resources and financial support. This volunteer will work closely with Innovation Works President Frank Knott to research and identify possible partners, attend local conferences and seminars, and follow-up on initial conversations and contacts to more deeply integrate these partners into the program.
